

FAVORABLE REPORT ON ACKLEY BILL TO AMEND RECALL LAW

SENATE COMMITTEE VOTES FOR MEASURE WHICH JANESVILLE RECALL FACTION OPPOSED.

COMES UP NEXT WEEK

Will Be Placed on the Senate Calendar for Immediate Consideration, According to Senator Martin.

Information was received by the Gazette today that the senate committee of the state legislature on education and public welfare had voted last evening to report for passage the bill introduced by Senator Ackley of Eau Claire which will amend the law in regard to the recall of councilmen under the commission form of city government. The committee voted in favor of an amendment to the bill which was to the effect that the measure shall go into effect the first day of next July, 1913, instead of upon passage and publication, as was the former provision.

Two Other Changes. The committee favored several other changes in the bill applying to section 1. One of these was to the effect that the provision requiring that one-half of the thirty-three and one-third per cent of the voters required to secure a recall election, shall be taxpayers, was stricken out. The other amendment was to strike out that part of the bill which read: "but no petition calling for such removal shall be filed against any such officer while another such petition is on file and undetermined." This leaves the bill providing in effect that one-third of the registered voters shall be required to secure a recall election; that the mayor or councilman may be removed at any time after such officer has held office for at least one year; and that the petition shall give a general statement of the facts constituting the reasons upon which the removal is sought.

Unquestioned Authority. The Gazette's authority for this report is Senator Martin of Green Bay, who is a member of the senate committee, and its correctness cannot be questioned. It amounts to a victory for the Janesville citizens who have been fighting the effort of a faction in this city to recall the mayor and two commissioners. At the time of the hearing before the senate committee on February 27, a delegation of business and professional men presented arguments in favor of the measure, while John C. Nichols, leader of the recall movement and avowed candidate for mayor under the recall measure, talked against the measure. He was further supported at that time by R. R. Lay, John F. Sweeney, Grant V. Fisher, Dr. D. B. Clark, all of this city, and Attorney J. M. Clancy of Stoughton.

Minor Modifications. Friends of the proposed measure consider that the modifications to the bill are of a minor character and were to be expected, especially the one which provided that fifty per cent of the persons signing the recall list shall be taxpayers. The principal contention, that one-fourth of the voters shall be required to secure an election has been won in the committee fight and also the next important provision which is that the petition shall give a general statement of the reasons for the removal.

Comes Up Next Week. The bill will be placed on the senate calendar to come up next week and final action may be expected at an early date. The main fight has been won, however, as it is not likely that there will be any important opposition on either the floor of the senate or the assembly.

The report which was current today that the bill had been reported for indefinite postponement, caused considerable comment. Members of the recall element were inclined to be jubilant, but in view of the later and more detailed account of the precise action of the committee, it is evident that their joy was untimely.

As Finally Reported. The bill as it will read with the two changes is as follows: A bill to amend sub-section 3 of section 25m-30, relating to the removal of city officers by recall.

The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows: Section 1. Sub-section 3 of section 25m-30 is amended to read: Sub-section 3. The mayor or other councilman may be removed at any time after such officer has actually held office for one year. A petition shall be filed with the city clerk demanding the election of a successor to the person sought to be removed. Such petition shall contain a general statement upon which the removal is sought, which facts shall be stated in plain and concise language and without regard to technical rules or form of expression. Such petitions shall be signed by electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent equal in number to at least one-third of the entire vote cast in such city for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election. No election shall hereafter be held to effect such removal unless the petition therefor shall have been filed in conformity with this section. Signatures to such petition may be upon different pieces of paper bearing the same or substantially similar headings, but no signature shall be valid or be counted in considering such petition unless it is signed and filed in conformity with this section and unless the date of signing is less than one month preceding the date of filing.

Section 2. This act shall be effective on and after July 1st, 1913.

MAKE UNSUCCESSFUL LYNCHING ATTEMPT

Mob at Salem, Ill., Jail Disperse This Morning—Incensed at Man Who Is Charged With Attacking Young Girl.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Salem, Ill., March 15.—The mob which last night threatened to storm the county jail and lynch Frank Pullens, who is charged with attacking Dorothy Holt, was entirely dispersed today and the streets practically deserted this morning. The four companies of the state national guard are still on duty and there appears to be no disposition on the part of any one to start trouble.

Sheriff Purcell says that later in the day or tomorrow he will take Pullens and Ernest Harrison who is also under arrest in connection with the affair, to some other county seat for safe keeping.

Later in the day Sheriff Purcell decided to take Pullens and Harrison to East St. Louis for safe keeping.

CLARKSON WOMAN IS GIVEN HER RELEASE

Minister's Wife Held for Alleged Connection With Society Burglar—Conn. Given Freedom in Milwaukee.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Milwaukee, March 15.—Mrs. Mable Clarkson, who deserted her husband, the Rev. N. K. Clarkson, and for a time lived with Owen C. Conn, held by the police at San Francisco as a "society burglar," was given her freedom by the Milwaukee police department at 9:30 this morning and left for Chicago at ten o'clock.

Mrs. Clarkson was detained by the Milwaukee authorities on a request from the police department of San Francisco in the hope that she might be able to give some information in connection with Conn's associates and operations.

The woman avers that she has no knowledge of Conn's doings in the far west. There is no indication of a reconciliation between the Clarksons for the present at least.

A message received by the Milwaukee police department from the department at Chicago reads: "Clarkson will do nothing." The police here infer from the telegram that Clarkson will have nothing to do with his wife.

BLACK RIVER FALLS AGAIN THREATENED BY SERIOUS FLOOD

Part of New Dam is Reported to Have Been Washed Out—Serious Washouts and Damage in Neighborhood of La Crosse.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] La Crosse, Wis., March 15.—The flood conditions in this section of the state continue to grow more serious with the losses from washouts and water verflow constantly growing.

Dam is Torn Out. A rise during the night of eleven feet in the Black River proved too much for the new dam built after the disaster of 1911 which destroyed the Black River Falls business district and partly wrecked the dam at Black River Falls this morning according to word just received here. Four gates were taken out. Latest information is that the city which, following the last flood, took steps for its own protection, will probably escape serious damage though a great district around the city is inundated.

Railroads Tied Up. Conditions are still far from normal today with the flood covering all the exposed points in this city yesterday. Three Eves, the Kickapoo Valley, the La Crosse and Southern and the Green Bay and Western railroads are still tied up with no probability of service on the latter for two or three days.

The Chicago and Northwestern got its trains running today with slow orders to the engineers on account of weakened tracks. The C. M. & St. Paul railroad still is unable to get trains through on the Reno and Southern Minnesota line, and in order to reach points on the latter line divisions west of the washout it was necessary to send trains on a detour which takes them one hundred miles north.

Schools Suspended. Country schools have been suspended, teachers and pupils being unable to reach them. Virgo City is practically under water and fears are felt for the dams at Sparta and Galesville. Danger of the ice breaking up in the Mississippi, which has been felt for the past two days, was removed today temporarily when a heavy frost had lightened the ice which fills the channel here. Further below the ice has already broken up and caused alarm, particularly at Lansing, Ia.

Green Bay, March 15.—A report reached here this morning from Oconto that that city is again in a flooded condition. The water is expected to recede, however. The Green Bay and Western road has been unable to operate farther than Casco on account of the flood.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS GERM IS DISCOVERED

Dr. Simon Flexner Makes Announcement to Medical Men—Preparation of Serum Thought Possible.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Baltimore, Md., March 15.—The announcement made to an audience of medical men here last night by Dr. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute of Research, New York City, that he has found a germ which causes infantile paralysis, has aroused the keenest interest among the scientists and local physicians eminent in their profession who regard it as one of the most important discoveries of recent years.

Dr. Flexner, who stated that the organism was an oval, spindle-shaped body which has been identified, said that in the cultivation of it the use of a medium freed from oxygen had been found necessary and that because it could grow only in the absence of oxygen it never could be found in blood or in any cavity containing oxygen. In the cultivation of it Flexner infected with the virus was used in a receptacle from which the air was drawn by means of a vacuum pump and under the resulting condition the virus was propagated.

In the course of his experiment he said he had employed for observation insects which were allowed to bite monkeys infected with the disease and had found that the insect thus became affected with the germ and retained it for a period of eight days, but he had not succeeded in infecting monkeys with the disease by having them bitten by insects so infected.

The discovery of a serum for the cure of the disease is looked upon by medical men here as practicable and possible to be soon accomplished.

ELECTION PROPOSALS KILLED IN ASSEMBLY

Legislature Does Not Take Kindly to Bills Favored by Actor Legislator—Bills Passed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Madison, March 15.—The assembly failed to take kindly to Don C. Hall's various proposals eliminating party recognition in elections today when it killed half a dozen such bills fostered by the actor legislator. Hall's bill regulating the practice of operating moving picture machines was likewise slaughtered.

The house passed bills limiting to ten miles per hour the speed of automobiles while passing each other. A bill was also passed making failures to pay alimony for suit money a crime carrying a heavy penalty. A bill making the Duluth-Superior interstate bridge open for the benefit of Wisconsin citizens was passed. The assembly favored the Ackley joint resolution favoring federal prohibition of polygamy. Assemblyman J. N. Stewart's bill increasing from 60 days to 15 years the term of imprisonment for the larceny of automobiles was passed.

Attorney General Owen said today that unregistered voters may swear in their votes on primary election day and that their affidavits may be taken by the election inspectors at the primaries.

ASKS FOR REPRIEVE TO PROVE INNOCENCE

Man Sentenced to Chair for New York Murder Declares He is Victim of Underworld Honor System.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Ossing, N. Y., March 15.—John Mulroney, appointed to die in the electric chair on Monday for the murder of "Caddy the Priest," a New York saloon-keeper, sent a letter to Governor Sulzer in which he declares that unless relieved he will go to death the victim of the underworld code of honor which condemns "squealers" as the most contemptible thing on earth. He asks for a reprieve of sixty days in order to bring forth evidence to prove his innocence. He says in his missive that "He believed in this code of honor and that he could not be condemned if he was innocent, and that he had done what he considered a brave act in trying to protect his friends by permitting this infamous charge to be lodged."

He adds that he was framed up by New York police and that while in a state of intoxication from whiskey given him by the police he signed what he merely supposed was a statement of his movements on the night of the murder.

BATTLE IN PROGRESS WITHIN THREE MILES OF MEXICAN BORDER

United States Deputy Marshal Wounded While Standing at Boundary Line Near Naco, Arizona.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Naco, Ariz., March 15.—At 11 o'clock a battle was in progress two miles below the border. Ojeda's men charged to the tops of a ridge of hills, dismounted and took skirmish positions. A group of gringos advanced from the south and threw a grilling fire against the federal position. A. A. Hopkins, a deputy marshal, was wounded in the leg while standing at the international line. The firing was furious from the start. The federal army brought into play three field pieces and the rebel outposts retreated. The federals pressed forward, encountering the main group of the Cules troops. Each force built its position. Bracamonte's group which was advancing on Naco at the time of Ojeda's unexpected departure then began moving to the aid of Cules.

Startle day the unexpected assault of the federals, Cules' forces at noon began to fall back. Bracamonte's group arrived but failed to scan the side of retreat.

The fighting this afternoon was nearly three miles south with the federal doggedly pressing forward. Ojeda has two rapid rivers besides his need places.

Fear For American's Safety. Fearing for American civilians and troops on the Arizona line here, Cules shortly after 10 o'clock gave the order to evacuate the town. With his four hundred and seventy-five men he marched away to the southeast, leaving his fortifications and facing an enemy twice his strength.

Imprison German Consul. Tucson, Ariz., March 15.—Max Muller, German consul agent at Hermosillo Sonora and manager of the Banco de Sonora, has been imprisoned by authorities of the insurgent Mexican state and the bank seized, say reports reaching here today.

Muller is said to have aroused the displeasure of the state authorities by refusing to negotiate alone. The bank was raided, but only 2400 pesos found, Muller having made some other provision for the safety of the funds. The German consul is cut off from direct communication with his ambassador at Mexico City. He has sent out an indirect appeal to the German ambassador at Washington.

URGES A SOLUTION FOR VICE PROBLEM

Milwaukee Attorney Argues for Measure Which Will Forfeit Houses of Ill Fame to State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., March 15.—"Let the legislature pass this bill and I venture to say not a house of ill fame will be left in Wisconsin forty-eight hours after the governor signs it," said Attorney H. B. Wainman of Milwaukee, addressing the public welfare committee on the Frederick bill providing for the forfeiture by the state of such properties. He said the bill, if passed, would prove the solution in a large degree of the vice problem in cities. From the lawyer's point of view he said the bill was complete and would stand the test. With such a law he said no man would dare to permit his property to be used for immoral purposes.

Assemblyman Frederick declared that segregated districts ought to be located in the swiftest part of town among the "3400." It was funny, the diamonds and gold necklaces seen in the segregated districts that included poor girls on their way to daily work to enter upon immoral lives, he said, and he declared no such attractions would exist in those parts of cities where silks and satins are afforded by the rich.

Mr. Frederick said his bill was championed by District Attorney Edward Yockey and former District Attorney W. C. Zabel of Milwaukee, and H. H. Jacobs of the University Settlement.

He counseled the committee not to be afraid of striking for too high standards and denied that the bill ought to be considered as too drastic. The bill provides that property may not be condemned without a verdict of conviction by a jury.

SUFFRAGETTES WAGE A PERSISTENT WAR

Another Woman Gets Sentence For Militant Actions—Carry Out Plans to Destroy Mails.

London, March 15.—Miss Marjory Masters the suffragette school teacher who yesterday threw a pot of green paint through a window of the home office was sentenced today to a month's imprisonment. Addressing the police magistrate in court she said:

"This was my method of lifting the gauntlet thrown down to women by the government in ignoring the question of votes for women in the king's speech at the opening of parliament." She was followed in the prisoner's enclosure by a male anti-suffragette who had arranged a crowd outside the headquarters of the militant suffragette society. He had shouted: "That's the place which ought to be burned down," and the police promptly arrested him. He was put under bonds to keep the peace.

The suffragettes today opened another active campaign of destruction of the mails. Scores of letter boxes in London were found this morning with their contents destroyed by acids. A large force of police has been assigned to special duty to investigate these outrages and to arrest the criminals.

WILSON WILL BEGIN AN ACTIVE PROGRAM OF ADMINISTRATION

PRESIDENT WILL INSTITUTE SOME OF HIS POLICIES DURING THE COMING WEEK.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

Are Now Being Cleared Up in Preparation for More Important Business—Oney Declines British Post.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, March 15.—While the past week has been given over to organization and filling some of the vacancies occasioned by the change in administration, the word went out from the White House today that this next week there would be a change of activities and that some of the policies of the new administration will be in effect. It is said that President Wilson will not only issue his proclamation calling for an extra session of Congress, but he will make some important announcements of the administration on public works.

The president's counsel further indicated that some of the important questions of appointment might be settled. Dudley Field Malone of New York who has been offered the post of assistant attorney general in charge of the case before the custom court was first on the list of the president's callers today.

Conference With McCombs. National Chairman McCombs took up with the president the situation in various states as to appointments. The president consulted with Mr. McCombs on what he thought the sentiment of the country was with respect to legislation and asked him about some of the men to whom foreign posts might be offered.

Mr. McCombs did not discuss his conference specifically, but said he was glad to learn that former Governor Burke of North Dakota was to be United States treasurer as he had been urging his appointment.

The president and Mr. McCombs chatted a long time and the frequent laughs of the president and his campaign manager, was one of the evidences that the burdens of state had been put aside for at least a part of the conference. Mr. McCombs said he was not yet ready to announce his final decision as to taking the post of ambassador to France.

Oney Declines Post. Richard Oney of Boston to whom President Wilson offered the post of Ambassador to Great Britain, has declined. His letter of refusal was received at the White House today.

Mr. Oney's letter was said to be of a confidential nature and was not made public. Secretary Taft, however, announced that Mr. Oney had declined "for family reason." It is understood that Mrs. Oney has been in poor health and that Mr. Oney was loathe to change his residence at his advanced age. His many business connections throughout his life are also said to have influenced him to remain in this country.

Speculation as to who might be chosen ambassador to Great Britain began with the announcement of Mr. Oney's declination. It was pointed out that beside Mr. Oney President Wilson had in mind Charles W. Elliott, president emeritus of Harvard, but had offered Mr. Oney the place because of his conspicuous record in the democratic party.

It is not known that Dr. Taft would accept the post as it was always understood that he declined a diplomatic offer from President Taft.

Davies Will Accept. George Foster Peabody was an early White House caller. He declared he had not been offered the position of collector of the port of New York. Dudley Field Malone declined to discuss his visit with the president. It was intimated by friends that he might decline any public office.

Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, secretary of the democratic national committee, will probably accept the post of assistant secretary of war, which the president has offered. Mr. Davies had been offered a diplomatic post and was considering it when Secretary Garrison offered to make him his assistant.

Suffrage Committee. The democrats are determined to take the committee on woman suffrage out of the minority list and make it a majority committee with Senator Thomas of Colorado as chairman. This was done in the expectation that true suffrage will be one of the live subjects for the senate's consideration.

The reforms proposed by the democratic managers in the method of selecting committees and committee chairmen were presented to the caucus by Chairman Kern with the explanation that they were to bring the senate nearer to the ideal of the democratic government than it had been. "We propose that this great body shall be democratic, not only in name, but in practical reality," said Senator Kern.

PREPARE FOR CELEBRATION OF THE PERRY CENTENNIAL

(By J. A. Watrous.)

It is proposed to have a reunion of the descendants of soldiers and sailors of the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812 at the various large celebrations in Wisconsin, in memory of the Perry Centennial. The battle of the Perry Victory on Lake Erie and the other victories won by "Old Hickory," Gen. Jackson, whose battle of New Orleans completed the fighting of that war; those of Gen. William Henry Harrison, "Old Tippecanoe," later President, and others; Gen. Winfield Scott and others who led in that Second War for Independence, whose fruit was of as vital importance almost to the Nation's life, as the fruits of the War of the Revolution. Such a reunion cannot fail to prove of interest to the people of Superior, Green Bay, Madison and Milwaukee, where the larger celebrations are to take place. Descendants of these warriors who would naturally go to Superior for their reunion should send their names to the Secretary of the Local Perry Centennial Committee of that city; those who would go to Green Bay should send their name to the Secretary of a like committee, and at Madison the same. Those who would assemble at Milwaukee should send their names and addresses to Secretary F. W. Dickson, 709 Germania Building, Milwaukee.

As these celebrations are to last several days, in all of the cities named, there will be ample time for various reunions. Already many whose native state is New York, are planning a great reunion for that week. It will be remembered that New York contributed largely to the army and the navy in both of those wars for independence.

It has been supposed, for a long time, that Gen. Grant set the example in this country of returning a sword to a surrendered officer. He returned Gen. Robert E. Lee's sword at Appomattox. But he was not the first. When the British captain surrendered after his fleet had been well nigh destroyed in the battle of Lake Erie, Commodore Perry, when his sword was handed to him, returned it with a word of praise for the great bravery shown, and the swords of all of the commissioned officers of the British fleet were returned.

Commodore Perry was an exceedingly modest man as well as a brave man. This is shown plainly by his first report to his superior officer after the battle had been won. He said:

"We have met the enemy and they are ours: two ships, two brigs, one schooner and one sloop.

Yours with great respect and esteem,

O. H. PERRY."

Imagine a victory of that importance being reported today. It would very appropriately occupy several pages, and if the battle were fought in the morning pretty nearly the whole civilized world would know the substance of the report before night the next day.

One of the rallying cries of Commodore Perry and his men in that decisive battle that had the leading part in settling in favor of the American Republic that war of vital importance was: "Don't Give Up The Ship." Somewhere on nearly all of Uncle Sam's fighting machines on the lakes, rivers and oceans, appears that rallying cry: "Don't Give Up The Ship." And Uncle Sam's sailors have not been in the habit of giving "up the ship." Farragut, Foote and Porter gave up no ships to the enemy in the Civil War, though they lost some that were sunk. Dewey, Sampson, Schley and their superb commanders did not give "up the ship" in their never-to-be-forgotten victories at Manila and in Cuban waters.

One hundred years ago.

That was long before there was a railroad in the Republic; a long time before there was a mile of telegraph line; steam had not yet been utilized in the navy—all of our fighting machines were sailing ships; it was nearly seventy years before the telephone; the villages and cities west of New York were of little account, and settlement in all that vast territory from New York to the Pacific had not as many white people within its borders as now live in the city of Toledo, Ohio. Today that section contains more than half of the population of the Nation, and its wealth is much more than half. This gives us a vivid and almost startling idea of the wonderful growth the Nation has experienced since our Second

War for Independence, and it would seem as if the average American who loves his country, believes in its institutions, honors its constitution, should be glad to celebrate in memory of the performance by the brave officers and men on land and water, who gave us the victory that has made possible all of those advancements for the American Republic. This seems a broad assertion, but let us suppose what would have been the result if Great Britain had conquered the weak, young, struggling Republic one hundred years ago. The great lakes and all that vast territory clear out to the Pacific Coast from the western borders of New York would have been British possessions instead of our good Uncle Sam's big plantation.

SECOND ENGAGEMENT OF "THE ONLY SON"

Thomas Ross With a Capable Company Presents Serious Play by Winchell Smith.

"The Only Son," with Thomas W. Ross in the title role, pleased a large audience at the Myers theatre last night. This is the second appearance of the company in the city this season and none but a cast of the known merit of this one could attract such an audience upon a return engagement.

Despite the fact that the star, Mr. Ross, had been seen by many of the audience in "The Fortune Hunter" and as "Checkers" in the play of that name, he gave them added cause for admiration.

This new play by Winchell Smith is one that is being universally commended for its originality and for the courage displayed by its author in conveying a story to mankind which though rarely discussed, is never the less close to the hearts of the mothers and fathers of the world. The situation centers about an estrangement between husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brainerd, through an indiscretion on the part of the latter. The husband in a rage orders the wife from the home, but in her heart-broken leave-taking she is unexpectedly cared for and supported by her son, whom his father considers worthless and profligate. The daughter with a feeling of hate and revulsion and selfishly considering the shame which she believes will be brought upon her own head, takes sides with the father. The subsequent success of the son in his business undertakings and in his efforts to bring father and mother together is very carefully and effectively worked out. A pleasing love story also runs through the piece which is not without subtle touches of the best comedy.

Mr. Ross in the role of the son has a part that is difficult and yet one which he accepts with ease. He seems to scorn the necessity of a "make-up" and his naturalness is one of the things that endear him to an audience. The play of his emotions as shown on his face as he sits for moments at a time occupying the stage alone, thrills his audience more than possibly could be done with words.

Lizzie Hudson Collier, as the mother, was strong. Campbell Golland, as Mr. Brainerd, the father, was by physique especially fitted for the part. A large man, carrying himself with dignity and full of self-confidence, he was truly the self-made man of affairs.

The entire cast was capable even as the poor creaky boy whose ability consisted of knowing nothing that occurred in his employer's office.

Ashcraft's Annual March Clearing Sale of Fine Furniture EMBRACES FURNITURE OF WORTH

"Worth" is defined as that quality or combination of qualities that makes one deserving of esteem, trust and honor. Now "worth" in furniture is no more to be juggled with than a man's character. Some dealers have an eye more to the profit account than to the quality of their goods. Not so here. Ashcraft's furniture has a standard. It is in every sense of the word worthy. Covering our three broad floors we have only good furniture—furniture made in the good old fashioned way and our prices are no higher than are asked for inferior goods and everything is brand new. During our sale everything, with one exception, is sold at a big discount.

Sport Snap Shots

by Dan McCarty

Packey McFarland is thinking of graduating to the welterweight ranks before his next fight. He had a frightful time getting down to 137 pounds for his fight with Jack Britton in New York a short time ago. He had two days of boiling out in a Turkish bath; two days of drying out, during which he could drink no water; and a day of fasting which left him the hungriest man in New York state by the time of the fight. No wonder that he nearly ate Britton up. Packey won't try that again in a hurry.

Now that it has become evident that Packey McFarland is going to have an awful time getting within lightweight limits for fights, all the lightweight boxers are quite willing to take him on. Willie Ritchie has just announced that he will give Packey a fight, provided, of course, that Packey makes 133 pounds six hours before the fight, almost an impossibility. In order the better to think this over, Packey has set out for Bermuda, where he will spend some time in company with the New York Yankees, training there. He is a great friend of Manager Frank Chance.

Cleveland has a three-hundred-thousand-dollar ball club. This is the valuation totalled in travel insurance taken out by Secretary Blackwood. They'll have to go some, though, before they come up relatively to the value of $100,000 set upon Manager McGraw of the New York Giants in insurance taken out by the owners of the club.

The success of New York's boxing commission in straightening out the list situation in that state has brought about imitation from many other commonwealths. Utah has just passed a law similar to the Empire State rule while Illinois and Wisconsin seem near similar action. In all twenty states having boxing bills before the legislature or are contemplating having them drawn up. All are modeled after New York's code.

Kid Williams, called the "Heracles in a capsule," is now coming into limelight as possible vanquisher of the bantamweight title. His victory over Eddie Campi is considered to make him the only logical opponent of Coulton, and the form he showed in this scrap makes many think he can trim the champion. Tom McCarey has offered to stage a fight between the two in his arena at Vernon, Cal., but Coulton still is dodging under the plaint of stomach trouble. He'd better take his beating like a man, if he has it coming to him; and, if he can beat Williams, he ought to quiet that youngster effectively and for all.

It won't be long now before the aladome sweat of the festive hat against the hilarious ball will be heard throughout the length and the breadth of our great and glorious land. The Pacific Coast league will pry the lid loose on April 1. Five other leagues will blow it skyhigh on April 10. They are American, National and Southern. After that they come trailing along in rapid succession, until May 8, when the Ohio State League gets under way.

RIVAL LOCAL TEAMS IN CLOSE CONTEST

East Side Defeats West Side in a Close But Interesting Game by The Score of 3 to 2.

In the Roller Polo game last night at the rink, between two teams representing the East and West side, the east side nosed out a victor in the last few moments of play by the score of 3 to 2. The players were entirely composed of home talent and the best the city afforded. While the game was not as brilliantly played as the league contests the game afforded much amusement to the spectators. The rivalry between the two teams was intensive and it was only on account of the stellar work of Schaffer that enabled the east side to win out. While the playing was ragged and there was a great lack of team work, the game furnished the best possible practice for the coming game with the Richmond, Indiana Stars. All players are uniting in their efforts to win both games from this championship team. The regular players showed in last night's game that they have lost none of their old accuracy for it was around them that the team work binged. On the East side team Blunk and Schaffer starred, both of them playing hard games. For the defeated west side F. Gaffey scored both goals and one of them was on the most difficult angle shot. Capt. Kilmer also showed excellent form on advancing the ball down the floor. Worthington, who has been playing goal on the Moose first team during Laugdon's absence, proved a brick wall for the shots from the rival team.

From this date on the main efforts of the roller polo team is to prepare for the coming game with the Indiana team. These two games promises to be the climax of the polo season from the standpoint of interesting games for the winner undoubtedly could claim with justice the championship of the Northwest.

Summary of Last Night's Game
West Side—1 rush, Delaney; 2 rush Kilmer; center, F. Gaffey; half back, Chase; goal, Condon.

East Side—1 rush, Blunk; 2 rush, H. Gaffey; half back, Richards; center, Schaffer; goal, Worthington.

Time of thirds—10, 10, 10.
Referee—Enright
Goals—Schaffer 2; H. Gaffey 1; F. Gaffey 1.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS IN LISTLESS GAME

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM COMPOSED OF STARS

Give Alumni Second Defeat of Season by 37 to 11 Score Last Evening. In a ragged game played last night at the high school gymnasium, the high school basketball five, aspirants for state honors, defeated the alumni for the second time this year by the score of 37 to 11. The first game was at the beginning of the season when the alumni were defeated by the score of 24 to 16. Last night the alumni lineup was changed considerably, Laugdon and Cunningham not being in suits and Mott and Korst taking their places. The game was very uninteresting from the very out-awarded the locals in their upward climb, and they are considered one of the strongest teams in the state tournament this year.

With perhaps the best team in the history of the high school, the locals have gained entrance to the state meet, after their most brilliant work. Hemming at center, has been the high scorer, and his floor work was a marked distinction. Captain Falter at right guard is the sticking guard, and is the mainstay of the team. While his basket shooting is not the best, he is Janesville's best floor man. Eder at left guard has played his best games with the locals. Against Baraboo, only last week, he secured six baskets from guard, while his man barely scored. He is aggressive and much is expected of him in the state meet.

Alwood and Dalton, the two new players on the local five, have been handy men on the team. While a little new at the game at the beginning of the season, they have cleared themselves of being recruits, by their great work on the floor and also their basket shooting ability.

The substitutes are all around players. L. Stewart, Kuhlow and J. Ryan form the utility men, and they can be expected to put up a fine game of basketball when needed.

The five will play only one more game before the state tournament, that contest being a return game with the Beloit five. This game will be good practice for the locals, and they will only try to win, regardless of their chances of piling up the score.

Scores in the elimination tournament at Oshkosh last night, were:
Menasha 34, Antigo 22.
Oshkosh 44, Hortonville 8.
Fond du Lac 29, Marinette 19.
Wausau 39, Manitowish 21.

EMERALD GROVE GUN CLUB MARKSMEN HAVE A SHOOT

A. Dodge, George Hill, and Claude Chamberlain Make Best Showing—Rain Prevents Continuance.

A. Dodge, George Hill and Claude Chamberlain, made the best showing in the clay pigeon shoot conducted by the Emerald Grove Gun Club yesterday afternoon. Out of fifty shots Mr. Dodge made 37 hits, Ralph Barless 23, C. Jellman 30, Ruth Chamberlain 17, and Roy Dean 12. George Hill made 20 hits out of twenty-five shots, Frank Lloyd 15, John Hill 11, and William Lloyd 4. Claude Chamberlain hit thirteen pigeons out of fifteen. Rain prevented a further continuance of the shoot.

set, as the high school five defeated their opponents with ease.

The game was opened with a rush. Falter made a beautiful shot from the center of the floor, and the ball went into the basket without touching the rim. From this time on, it was all for the high school. Dalton was next with a finger. The entire first half was one-sided, and the score at the end of that interval was 25 to 2 in favor of the high school. In the last forty seconds of the first half, Korst scored an easy basket, giving the Alumni their only points in the first half.

The second half was harder fought. The old guards came back and forced the high school five to work a little harder. In the middle of the half, Ryan substituted for Hemming at center, and Kuhlow took Capt. Falter's place at right guard. Both subs played a good game. The half ended with a lead for the high school, the final score being 37 to 11.

The score and the lineup was as follows:

Janesville high school—Atwood, L. F., Dalton, R. F., Hemming and Ryan, C., Eder, L. G., Capt. Falter and Kuhlow, R. G.
Alumni—Korst, L. F., French, R. F., Wilkinson, C., Brown, L. G., Mott, R. G.

Baskets, Atwood 7, Dalton 5, Hemming 2, Eder 1, Falter 1, Ryan 1, Korst 2, Wilkinson 1, Brown 2.

Free throws—Hemming 1, Brown 1.

Notes of Game.
Atwood played a fast and aggressive.

The entire high school did not exert themselves. They played an easy game, and held their opponents helpless most of the time.

Falter proved his ability by holding Korst, last year's forward, to two baskets. Korst shot many times but was unable to find the basket.

Wilkinson put up a worthy game, and held Hemming in fine fashion.

The game was somewhat closer than the score might indicate.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

THE CARPENTER OF NAZARETH.

The dream of my life has been to voice the essential teachings of the Nazarene in newspaper English, to do this as I would write of any other subject, an editorial or news story, for example, and without pretense, theology or cant.

I still have this dream, and some day I am going to make it come true.

Today the newspaper is the avenue of universal appeal. In a sense it is the people's pulpit.

Today the need of the world in every department of our life is the spirit of these same teachings.

We need it in politics, in business, in industry, in the school, in the home and in the hearts of the people.

The promulgation of these essential truths is not the monopoly of any institution or calling.

The teachings of the Nazarene are the common property of humanity.

Neither are they something apart from our everyday affairs. They are woven into the very texture of our life.

They are the essence of modern democracy.

They are the very cornerstone of Americanism.

They are alive with the spirit of liberty.

They are as truth loving as modern science.

They are the loftiest common sense.

In spirit, if not in words, they recognize the fact that perfect individuality and brotherhood go together; that they complete and fulfill each other.

Now and then it is necessary for a people to go back to the fountain of their inspiration, to find the springs from which flowed the stream of their national life, to revive their ancient literature and traditions, to renew their spirit and especial genius.

Ireland went through such a process in the Gaelic renaissance. It marvelously awakened the land, even reviving her industries.

The springs of our inspiration are the teachings of the Nazarene. He was the first democrat, the reformer, the apostle of brotherhood, of peace, of liberty of conscience, of the gospel of service.

Would it not be a great thing if we could go back to this fountain to renew the spirit of our institutions?

Here is a work for newspapers as molders of public opinion.

Back to the fountain! Back to the Nazarene!

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Two years ago a young man from the North drifted into Punta Gorda,
a little town at the head of Charlotte
Harbor, on the west coast of Florida.
He was a bright, intelligent boy of Polish descent, and had been employed as circulator, through Wisconsin and other western states, by a publishing house at Toledo, Ohio,
which prints the largest Polish paper
published in this country.

Thrifty and economical he had managed to save about twelve hundred dollars, and captivated by glowing descriptions of Florida land and the opportunities to make money in the realm of orange blossoms and perpetual summer, he had come south to invest his money, and establish a colony of his own people.

He proved an easy victim for the local representative of a company of northern land sharks, and in a few days became the owner of ten acres
of Florida sand for which he paid $300. Then he built him a little shack and went to work with a will to redeem the soil.

In six months' time half the little plot was cleared and ready for a crop, but he soon discovered that the land was so poor that it would produce nothing, and so his northern friends were advised to stay where they were, and the little colony never materialized.

What to do was a problem. His money was going rapidly, and all efforts to sell out were futile. One day this week he traded his little farm
for a piano and deserted the place with a smile, saying, "I may be able to sell the instrument for a little something; if not I can keep it till I get married some day, and then present it to my wife as a piano that cost me twelve hundred dollars and two years of hard work and worry."

He came into the little hotel at Cleveland, near where his land was located, and told his story yesterday.
He said: "I am only twenty-five years old. Life is ahead of me and I can stand it, but the government ought to do something to rid the state of the land swindlers. The land for which I paid thirty dollars per acre
was no better than thousands of acres
all about me, and none of it would sell for a tenth of the price."

Then with a sigh of relief, he said:
"Thank God, I am through with the country! Now I am going out to take a swim in the harbor and get some of the Florida grit and bile out of my system," and he went away, disgusted, as many investors are doing, with a land which promises so much and produces but little save climate, in the way of net results.

An old gentleman from Indiana—
president of a bank at Richmond—
was here the other day to look up four hundred acres of land with a mortgage on it, which had been bequeathed to a college, of which he was a director. Asked what he thought of it, after looking it over, he said: "Well, it may be worth $50 per acre but I am going to offer it for $5.00, and I am afraid it will be the property of the college for some time to come, even at that price," and it will be.

Yet within a mile of where this land is located an enterprising land company is laying out a town and a lot of victims from Kansas have already been separated from their money, at fancy prices.

Florida has had no severe frosts,
for a number of years, and fruit is so abundant this year that it is a drug on the market. A gentleman who has spent the winter at Petersburg said, the other day, that grape fruit was being retailed at from ten to twenty-five cents a dozen. There are thousands of cases of both oranges and grape fruit that will never be gathered. This means that between the barren land and the highly cultivated fruit groves, there is but little choice this year as revenue producers.

The Gazette has been cleverly denounced by both northern and southern land promoters for telling the plain, unvarnished truth about this section of the country, which of late has been so freely advertised. The paper has refused, and continues to refuse to give publicity to any of these fake schemes for money.

The information published has been gathered at close range, by observation and experience, extending over a number of years, and the pictures are not pictures of imagination. If more of this kind of publicity was scattered through the North, it might result in protecting many people from themselves, by curbing ambition to become southern land owners.

There are many choice garden spots
in the state of Florida, where orange groves in bearing and vegetable patches, under a high state of cultivation, can be bought for about one thousand dollars per acre, but the same amount of money invested in an eighty acre farm in any of the northern states, will produce a better income, with less risk involved, while the man who comes south and attempts to redeem the land from a state of nature, is more of a pioneer
than the man who locates on a western prairie.

There's nothing quite so alluring as a time proposition on land, and the northern promoters were not long in discovering that ten dollars down, and ten dollars a month, was a bait which attracted suckers by the thousand.
Millions of acres have been sold in this way in the big dismal swamp known as the Everglades. A section of this swamp couldn't be mortgaged
in this state, or any other, for a five dollar note.

The men who buy this much have never seen it and never will. The man who sold it to them is frequently no better off. His knowledge is based on a blue-print, and if he ever visits
the swamp, and expects to get out,
he will need an Indian guide and a good canoe. Talk about fraud; it beats the old Louisiana lottery to a standstill.

Monroe county is the extreme southern county in the state. It is one hundred miles long and about as wide. Key West, eighty miles across the gulf, is the county seat. The balance of the population is composed of four hundred and fifty Indians, remnants of the Seminole tribe, and about two hundred fishermen who live on the islands.

The most of this county is at sea
level and the black muck, called soil,
is the wash of the ocean which has been going on for centuries. It rests on a coral foundation, the same as Mr. Flagler found when building his famous gulf railroad.

When the tide is in, the only thing
visible is saw grass, Cypress trees which grow in the swamp, and little islands covered with a rank growth
of mangrove.

Yet this county has been platted,
and much of it sold to northern suckers. Three years ago a party of Nebraska promoters were here and sold 300,000 acres on a lottery scheme, giving a town lot to every buyer, yet there isn't a town in the county and never will be. If you have any investments in Monroe county, forget them, unless you want to take a vacation with an Indian guide hunting alligators and rattlesnakes. You can get swindled to the queen's taste, in other parts of the state, but you will
at least be able to locate your investment, when you come down to see it.
This information is gratuitous, but it is reliable. It detracts nothing from the climate, which makes the state a winter paradise, and if it causes northern people to think twice before investing in a lottery which is destitute of prizes, some good may be accomplished.

The northern land shark may criticize—that is his privilege—but if he has ever visited the country which he is attempting to exploit, he has but little to offer by way of defense.

Speaking of criticism, perhaps it may not be out of character to say that the newspaper is classed with the weather, the railroads, public utilities companies and large corporations.

The man is an exception who does not feel competent to criticize the weather, and this is largely true concerning all great enterprises, while the average mortal knows more about how a newspaper should be conducted, than do the men who have their capital invested in the business.

The mission of a newspaper is impersonal. It is expected to denounce fraud for the protection of the public,
because it is the only medium of wide publicity. If it stands for anything morally, and possesses the courage of conviction, it does not hesitate to defend its principles regardless of criticism.

The recall proposition, which has stirred the city during the past two months, is a case in point. The Gazette has been the target for all sorts of threats and denunciations, because the paper espoused the cause of law and order, and urged decent regulation.

The city represents more than the handful of men who are attempting to make it a wide open town. The homes, the schools, and the great rank and file of the people demand protection from vice, and a wholesome respect for law. The Gazette represents this widespread constituency, and will continue to voice their sentiments, until right prevails.

SCRIPTURE

MATTHEW 2 : 1-5.

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod,
the king, behold, there came wise
men from the east to Jerusalem.

Saying, Where is he that is born
King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

When Herod, the king, had heard
these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them
where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea; for thus it is written by the prophet.

And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, art not the least among the princes of Judah; for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.

THE PURE MOMENT

The Mule.
The mule is a most beautiful bird.
His liquid voice is often heard
throughout the reaches of the night.
His technique, it is simply grand.
His headnotes have much volume and his execution is all right and when he sings his glad refrain his voice soars like the acropolis.
He never suffers with stage fright.

And like the opera singer, too, he's stubborn, always through and through. He also dearly loves to kick. He's hard to manage, hard to please, although upon your bended knees you beg of him until you are sick. He always has his own sweet say, no matter what you do or say. He has his way and has it quick.

Of all the voices east or west, he likes his own sweet voice the best.
That is the one and only bet. The other singers are all fakes who cannot touch the tones he makes. No one gets notes that he can get. And when this animal I see, it often is impressed on me, he's like a lot of folks I've met.

According to Uncle Abner.
If all the suffragets were beautiful
the men would have been letting them vote for twenty years past.

They say that women will always kiss and make up, but the fact remains that most of 'em are generally made up first.

A good many baseball players we have heard of would have made better clarinet players.

There is something about wearin'
nose glasses that makes it easy for a feller to borrow money.

When it gets so we kin tell the names of the generals from the names of the towns where the battles are fought there will be considerably more interest in the Mexican war.

Any man who allows himself to be seen going home with a half dozen eggs or a pound of butter is holding forth a terrible temptation to burlars.

An eastern savant says science can't lie. Perhaps not, but some of the scientists can.

Deacon Fringle was seen by a certain party from this community goin'
into a movin' picture show down to the city one day last week when he thought nobody was lookin'. We have always maintained in this paper that a deacon to hum and a deacon away
from hum is two separate and distinct kinds of deacons.

A feller was through here last week selling a brand new brand of hair restorer. And Frisky, spilled part of a bottle of it on his horsehair
soly in the parlor and he has to go over it regular with the lawnmower.

A Perfect Store:

This Big Store is a composite of all that's good! You've noticed that where a store is good in one thing it falls far short of perfection in other respects. If its prices happen to be low, its stock, nine cases out of ten, is either poor, old or very limited. If its stock is fine and extensive, it usually asks high prices. If it isn't one thing it is another,
and the perfect store—the one combining features the modern store should have—
is a rare exception. We may be overenthusiastic about this store in some things but in claiming that our prices are lowest, our stock largest,
our designs best, our quality
superlative, we utter only the facts. If there is a perfect store this is certainly one.

IMPORTANT TOPICS ON CIVIC WELFARE

BIG SPLINTER OF STEEL REMOVED FROM EYE-BALL

Joseph Farnsworth, Foreman at the Hough Shade Works, Still Under Care of Chicago Hospital.

Through the use of a very powerful electro-magnet, a piece of steel, one-fourth of an inch long and a sixteenth of an inch in diameter, was removed from the eye of Joseph Farnsworth, foreman at the Hough Shade Company's factory, by a Chicago oculist Saturday. This information was received in a letter from a friend who accompanied Mr. Farnsworth to Chicago soon after the accident. He reports Mr. Farnsworth is still in the care of the oculist and the bandages have not yet been removed from his eye. It is not yet known how serious the consequences of the accident will be but the oculist fears that the sight of the eye will be impaired if not destroyed. The splinter that entered Mr. Farnsworth's eye was thrown off by an emery wheel.

FAVOR RE-STOCKING OF ROCK WITH FISH

Many Janesville Anglers Believe It Is High Time That More Fry Be Planted in River.

That it is high time for planting more fish fry in the Rock river is the opinion of the anglers who fish the courses of that stream in this vicinity and it is possible that an application for fry will be sent to the fish commission within a short time. It is three or four years since the last planting was made, ten thousand black bass "fingerlings" being liberated at the mouth of Spring Brook. Bass and pike are the fish most desired for re-stocking, although pickerel would also be welcomed. Catfish are said by some to be still plentiful in the stream, but other fishermen insist that Rock river is no longer the best stream for "cat" in this state.

The closed season for black, Oswego and yellow bass begins today and closes on June 1. This is the only closed season on the Rock river, it being permissible to catch other fish with hook and line at any time of the year. The extension of the closed season to other fish, it is believed, would improve fishing and make it better worth while to re-stock the river from time to time.

Between September 1 and April 15, no fishing by any device is allowed for any stream in which trout are found. This applies to Turtle Creek in this county, Koshkonong Creek and a few lesser streams.

COLD WAVE ARRIVES; TRAINS ARE DELAYED

St. Paul Train Unable to go Farther Than Darlington Owing to Floods—Snow Hinders Traffic North.

Preceded only by a light fall of snow the cold wave predicted by the weather man yesterday to follow the disturbances of Friday, arrived in Janesville today. While the mercury did not register any low figure, the change was sufficient to excite comment that the past few days of spring-like weather were decidedly premature.

While the northern part of the state is covered with a heavy snowfall and the western states are being swept by bitter winds, Janesville was favored by milder weather although the prediction for tonight is colder with higher northerly winds.

Both railroads are experiencing great trouble in running their trains because of unfavorable weather conditions. Train number seven of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Saint Paul road which leaves for Mineral Point from Janesville at ten-thirty was forced to return to Darlington on account of high water two miles east of that city. The train was unable to reach its destination and started on its return trip. The country at that point is very swampy and great trouble is encountered in running the trains through to Mineral Point. There are a number of small creeks which prove insufficient in the spring time to drain the water off and consequently the right of way is badly flooded. The train left Janesville this morning but it is not known if necessary dredging has been made to make the road passable.

All trains from the north were delayed on the Northwestern on account of a severe snowstorm above Elroy. All of the through trains from northern part of the state were delayed from two to four hours. When the trains arrived they were badly covered with snow and reports certify that there is from four to five feet of snow on the tracks and the pilots of the engines verified the fact. The telegraph company is not experiencing any trouble due to the storm and all telephone wires are working as well as could be expected.

Telephone and telegraph companies in this city have experienced no trouble, all lines out of here being in working order.

ALL EUROPE SWEEP BY STRANGE DREAD OF IMPENDING WAR

Countries Great and Small Taking Account of Their Military Preparedness—The Wireless

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, March 15.—A passion for war seems to be sweeping over all the countries of Europe. The Balkan states have found a field of expression for their militancy, but countries which have not this vent are expending their energies in war-like preparations. The small states are involved equally with the greater powers, and today France, Germany, Austria, Belgium and Switzerland are taking serious count of their military preparedness.

Belgium is raising her army from a war footing of 100,000 to 150,000 men. Baron de Broqueville, the Belgian minister of war, in concluding a speech on this subject before the Belgian chamber, urged that the army increase be voted as quickly as possible, for the sake of "Belgian security and honor." The country lives under the shadows of the great states, the minister declared, and Belgium must put forth great efforts to protect her frontiers should her neighboring powers fall upon each other.

The most important newspapers of Switzerland are publishing the official notices of the government warning Swiss citizens residing in European countries to hold themselves in readiness to return immediately in the event of war, and Swiss living in the United States have been requested to stand ready to come back to Switzerland on call. The Swiss republic, under its present military organization, could put into the field 100,000 men in twenty-four hours and 200,000 in forty-eight hours. One-third of the government's revenues are spent on military objects. In case of supreme necessity, the government expects to be able to place 275,000 men under arms within a week.

The French cabinet has adopted a measure extending the term of service in the army from two to three years; this adds something over 200,000 men to the peace footing of the army. "Every Frenchman," said M. Chéron, official analyst of the appropriations committee of the chamber of deputies, in a recent address, "must at the present moment fix his attention upon the military activity of the other side of the frontier." He then compared Germany's expenditures on her army with the expenditures of France during the past ten years. The cost of the German army had augmented constantly until now it was double that of France. Next year, under the new German law, the outlay on the army would be $100,000,000 more than that of France.

The new German military bill will add $4,000,000 to the army, giving a total of $96,000,000, excluding officers. Compared to this France, including the latest numerical increase, has a total of $78,783,000 in her army on a peace footing, excluding officers. French opinion is waking up to the fact that Germany in the sphere of military aeronautics is leaving France badly in the rear. General Lacroix and a number of other eminent strategists unite in declaring that France has nothing to show against Germany's aerial cruisers but a fleet of "penny steamers," and they strongly deprecate the attitude taken generally in France towards dirigibles. They think the sudden development of aeroplanes caused an entirely unwarranted enthusiasm for those machines, and a corresponding disparagement of dirigibles. General Lacroix holds that the opposition to rigid dirigibles in France is quite wrong; the supply type of airship favored by the French military authorities is, from the military point of view, exceedingly risky, a pin prick sufficing to destroy them. Airships of the German rigid type, with their several compartments, are capable of withstanding considerable damage before being put absolutely out of action.

Ships that feel their way along the coasts of France, in foggy weather, are to have the benefit of a new wireless "compass" which will enable them to ascertain, practically automatically, their correct position, and so steer a safe course.

The wireless "compass" permits the detection of the direction from which a wireless electric signal is sent, and the signal itself will designate the point of its origin. Sending stations are to be established at lighthouses and other points of vantage along the coast, and two already are in operation on small islands off the harbor of Brest. Signals from this chain of shore points will be sent automatically at regular intervals whenever fog prevails, and a vessel equipped with the receiving "compass" will be able to read the exact direction of the place of origin of these warnings. On the receipt of two signals a ship will find it possible, by a simple process of triangulation, very readily to determine her exact position. A great advantage of this system of safety at sea is the fact that the new "compass" is very cheap, furthermore, it is self operating and does not require the attention of an operator. The next step will be to install two more sending stations near Havre and others will be set up in due course until the entire coast is protected.

The public administrator of Paris has just sold the property of Major General Alexandre Dumas, for the benefit of the general's wife, General Dumas, who had retired from the army after forty years of notable service, chiefly in the colonies, left his residence in the Paris suburbs one afternoon sixteen months ago, and has not been heard of since. He disappeared completely. His wife waited for months, and inquired for her husband in practically every country in the French colonies where he had served so many years of his life. No news of the old soldier has been received, and now the police, at the request of the wife, have officially declared that the general "left Paris without communicating his plans to anyone, abandoning a pension of $2,800 a year." The sale of his property followed.

HOWES' PICTURES.

Those who enjoy travel most are those who travel much whether by boat or rail or with Lyman H. Howe via his Travel Festival. However, "Howe's Travelers" enjoy an advantage which actual travelers do not, because their pleasure is not marred by poor hotel accommodations, late trains, bad weather or the annoyance caused by baggage, quarantine or customs officials.

The range of interests represented in the new programs which will be shown at the Myers Wednesday and Thursday, on March 26 and 27, matinee Thursday is as wide as human nature itself. It contains many comparisons which are striking, especially for Americans who, living in an environment that is modern to the last degree, can appreciate all the more the strange scenes of foreign lands that are not as progressive as our own. Such reproductions cultivate power of observation. This in turn awakens latent ideas and inspires new thoughts for the more one sees the more accurately one thinks. For these reasons an exhibition like Mr. Howe's does more to develop and broaden one's outlook than any other before the American public. Like a living newspaper it pictures the whole earth before our eyes, and speaks in a universal language that everyone can understand. By its magical powers it makes spectators feel the truth of what they witness, and therefore it is much more enduring than if it was conveyed by words because the memory of the eyes far outlives the memory of the ears.

"OUR WIVES."
Henry Kolker, leading man in "Our Wives," which comes to your theatre lived his youthful years in Quincy, Ill., where his father was prominent in business circles. At nineteen years Kolker was sent to Milwaukee as the local representative of the N. K. Fairbank Company and his first appearances upon the stage—as a member of the German stock company—were in the nature of a "sideline." Even after he became a full-fledged actor he did not tell his parents he had gone upon the stage, as they had the old-time prejudice against the actor. But when he was engaged by Robert Downing for the latter's production of "The Gladiator," Kolker had to tell his father, as the company was booked for a single night at Quincy. The senior Kolker objected so seriously to the appearance of his son in the home town that Kolker's stage career almost ended there and then. But Downing had taken a great fancy to the youth and underlook to "square" matters. He provided himself with a fund of good stories and called upon father families—making himself so agreeable with his round good humor that he finally secured the father's promise to witness the performance. Bright and early the next morning Kolker, Sr., was at the station to see the boy off. He inquired as to the possibilities of the profession at some length, read Kolker a vigorous lecture on the whole matter and then whispered: "Henry, when you are ready to go into this thing for yourself, let me know; I'll give you the capital."

Note—Pamela Gaythorne, leading woman in "Our Wives," is a famous English comedienne. She created the part of June in "The Man on the Box." Ann Marie in "Samson," Baroness Roxdon in "Brother Officers," Baroness von Ritzon in Alfred Suro's "Taking a Gentleman," Catty Lovelace in "The Third Time of Asking," Mrs. Brevell in "The Fascinating Mr. Vanderfeldt" and Lucy in "The Walls of Jericho."

"BROADWAY JONES."
While theatregoers in New York are raving over Geo. M. Cohan's latest success, "Broadway" Jones, the play will be seen at the Myers Theatre, Friday, April 4.

Never has a play come to us so highly endorsed by the critics. The praise of the press was universal. When "Broadway" Jones was presented in New York, the Tribune said: "Some people can live on Broadway all their lives, and never know what the place really is until they go and see 'Broadway' Jones."

In the play "Broadway" Jones has squandered a fortune in an endeavor to burn up Broadway. Just as he thinks he has it properly incinerated there comes the inevitable smash, and his money is all gone. Not only this but he finds himself heavily in debt. In despair he consents to marry an heiress old enough to be his mother, but before that event can take place an obliging uncle dies and leaves him a Cheving Gum Factory in Jonesville, Connecticut. To further increase his good fortune the Cheving Gum Trust offers to buy out his Cheving Gum Factory for a fabulous sum.

The girl in the play dawns on the scene at this time, and through her influence, he is induced to change his mind, and instead of selling out he goes to Jonesville, his native city and becomes an active head of his new possession. This, in a nutshell, is the story around which Mr. Cohan has written one of his best plays New York has seen in years.

The cast presenting the play here includes John Webster, Ralph Morgan, Caroline Lill, George C. Stanley, Daniel Burns, Jack Pierce, Marie Taylor, Fred Maynard, Grace Morrissey, Edith Luckett, George K. Henry Charles H. Henderson Dore Rodgers and others.

Washington's Birthday Program of Adams School Repeated For Their Benefit Last Evening.

Members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 29, Grand Army of the Republic, the Relief Corps, and their families, were very pleasantly entertained at East Side Odd Fellows hall last evening. Through the courtesy of Miss May Clarke, principal of the Adams school, the Washington's birthday program given by her pupils was repeated. From fifteen to twenty children took part and acquitted themselves with great credit. The Grade School Orchestra, recently organized by Miss Sewell, played a number of selections and showed that they were making excellent progress. In the absence of Miss Sewell they were directed by Miss Tassie Nott. A number of delegates from the Beloit G. A. R. Post were present at the meeting.

CATARRH OF THE THROAT

Requires Prompt Treatment To Avoid Deafness

MR. DANIEL ROHRBACKER.

Many diseases are caused by taking cold. A cold is very likely to settle in the nose, causing nasal catarrh. It may settle in the upper part of the throat, called the nasal pharyngeal space. In this space are two little tubes called eustachian tubes, that lead to the middle ear.

If the catarrh settles in the pharyngeal space it may follow the mucous membrane through the eustachian tubes into the middle ear. If it does it will cause noises in the ear, and later on be sure to cause deafness.

Catarrh of the throat may follow the eustachian tubes up into the middle ear without causing much concern on the part of the patient. The partial loss of hearing is apt to be overlooked. A person may lose half his hearing before he knows it.

For instance, suppose a man can hear his watch four feet from the ear. If he loses his hearing to the extent that he can only hear the tick of his watch two feet from the ear he may not suspect it at all. His hearing is good enough for ordinary purposes. He goes on without the slightest suspicion that he is losing his hearing. He may have ringing in the ear, or cracking and snapping sounds in the ear, but he is not aware that he is losing his hearing.

It is a good thing to test your hearing with a watch. First hold the watch against your ear, then move it gradually away from the ear and see how far away from the watch you can actually hear it tick. Try it on the other side and see if both ears are alike. If you find that you are unable to hear the watch on both sides alike and at a distance of four feet from the ear, you may know that ing Gum Factory for a fabulous sum. The girl in the play dawns on the scene at this time, and through her influence, he is induced to change his mind, and instead of selling out he goes to Jonesville, his native city and becomes an active head of his new possession. This, in a nutshell, is the story around which Mr. Cohan has written one of his best plays New York has seen in years.

MEMBERS OF GRAND ARMY PLEASANTLY ENTERTAINED
Washington's Birthday Program of Adams School Repeated For Their Benefit Last Evening.

Members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 29, Grand Army of the Republic, the Relief Corps, and their families, were very pleasantly entertained at East Side Odd Fellows hall last evening. Through the courtesy of Miss May Clarke, principal of the Adams school, the Washington's birthday program given by her pupils was repeated. From fifteen to twenty children took part and acquitted themselves with great credit. The Grade School Orchestra, recently organized by Miss Sewell, played a number of selections and showed that they were making excellent progress. In the absence of Miss Sewell they were directed by Miss Tassie Nott. A number of delegates from the Beloit G. A. R. Post were present at the meeting.

Never has a play come to us so highly endorsed by the critics. The praise of the press was universal. When "Broadway" Jones was presented in New York, the Tribune said: "Some people can live on Broadway all their lives, and never know what the place really is until they go and see 'Broadway' Jones."

In the play "Broadway" Jones has squandered a fortune in an endeavor to burn up Broadway. Just as he thinks he has it properly incinerated there comes the inevitable smash, and his money is all gone. Not only this but he finds himself heavily in debt. In despair he consents to marry an heiress old enough to be his mother, but before that event can take place an obliging uncle dies and leaves him a Cheving Gum Factory in Jonesville, Connecticut. To further increase his good fortune the Cheving Gum Trust offers to buy out his Cheving Gum Factory for a fabulous sum.

The girl in the play dawns on the scene at this time, and through her influence, he is induced to change his mind, and instead of selling out he goes to Jonesville, his native city and becomes an active head of his new possession. This, in a nutshell, is the story around which Mr. Cohan has written one of his best plays New York has seen in years.

The cast presenting the play here includes John Webster, Ralph Morgan, Caroline Lill, George C. Stanley, Daniel Burns, Jack Pierce, Marie Taylor, Fred Maynard, Grace Morrissey, Edith Luckett, George K. Henry Charles H. Henderson Dore Rodgers and others.

ROGER'S RESCUE

BY WILL SEAT.

ROGER paused as a cry swept around the bend, then turned his horse up stream, halloing in response. It was Kate's voice! What had befallen her?

He pushed rapidly through the scrub with frequent calls, getting no response, and when breaking through on the brink of the stream he saw her, he demanded, with a flash of resentment:

"Why didn't you answer? I would have found you the sooner."

"I wouldn't have called at all if I had known it was you splashing along down there. I couldn't know, of course, until I heard your voice," she replied with an effort at dignity.

But dignity is not easily attained when the aspirant is on her knees, clinging to a log that quivers above a whirl of rushing water. She felt that her position was ludicrous and went on sharply:

"I am sorry I brought you out of your way, excuse me, and go on. I can manage."

"Nonsense!" he retorted. "Of course I can't and won't, leave you there." He urged his horse into the stream.

"It isn't necessary," she cried. "I was nervous. I—I can get across myself." She crawled a few trembling inches.

"Keep still," he commanded.

"Don't you see it's going down! Steady, old boy—there! Slip on as carefully, and quickly as possible—hold tight! Now, Doc, out of this!" The horse plunged ahead and as he struggled upon the bank the great log went down. A moment later they might have been carried with it.

Kate shrieked and Roger's face was white.

"I reached you in time, thank Heaven!" he breathed.

"I never noticed how the flood had loosened it until I was out on it," Kate panted. "I've crossed it hundreds of times, going to Mary's."

He could feel her trembling.

"Are you able to hold on?" he asked anxiously.

She pulled herself up. "It's just nervousness, and the fright at the plunge of the log. I'll get off now."

"You won't get off now! How long were you hanging there?"

"I don't know, but quite a while—I couldn't help getting nervous—it shook so I didn't dare to go either way. But I'm all right now. I'll get off and go home by the bridge. I don't feel like visiting now. Please stop."

"You can't walk it, exhausted as you are by the nervous strain. O. Kate, if I hadn't taken the bottom road in spite of reason!" His voice shook.

"I suppose I'd be under the big drift pile down there."

"Don't!" he grasped one of clinging hands; it was promptly snatched away.

"It looks as if you'd rather have"

drowned than be rescued by me," he asserted bitterly.

"But I didn't want to drown, and I was silly of me to endanger us both by hesitating. I beg your pardon, and thank you for your help."

She was exceedingly formal.

"You treat me like a stranger—or an enemy," he said. "You know I would rather have gone down with you than to have come out without you."

Her frigid silence had the effect of questioning his declaration. He holed but subdued his emotion, and presently suggested: "You will ride more comfortably if you will let me change places with you."

"No," she replied curtly and decidedly.

"When we reach the big road you may have the horse. I will foot it across and take him at your gate," he tried again.

"You won't! If you don't let me off we'll both ride," she declared shortly.

There followed a long silence, which he broke at last with a sudden frank outburst:

"Look here, Kate. I can't help it if it is taking advantage of you—that is, when you can't run away from me as you've been doing for ages. It seems—but I've got to know what's the matter between us. You accepted my attentions, letting me hope everything; then suddenly you cut me absolutely. I can't think you a coquette, there must be a reason. Tell me plainly what it is."

"Coquette!" she shrieked. "You couldn't complain if I were."

He studied that a bit. "Honestly Kate, I don't know what you mean."

"How exceedingly innocent!" she jeered.

"Kate," he begged. "Tell me, frankly, what you mean, what you have heard about me."

"None! I saw—but it doesn't matter, it's nothing to me."

stant one of Doc's forelegs went into a hole, pitching the pair forward to the verge of unseating them. When they were again under way, Roger immediately repeated his declaration and request.

"That question should go with your kiss, sir!" Kate retorted. "You never kissed me, thank fortune!"

FACE ALL RED SPOTS AND BLISTERS

Rubbed and Scratched. Would Cry and Fret. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Face Got Well.

632 N. 5th St., Terre Haute, Ind.—"My little nephew, a boy of four years, had a breaking out on his face. It was little red spots at first then he would rub and scratch and water blisters would form and wherever the water would run another would come until his face was covered with them. He would cry and fret. His mother got some medicine, but it did not do any good. He would scream and cry and say he hated his face. We hardly knew him. His little face was all red spots and blisters. So I begged him to let me put some Cuticura Ointment on them. The next morning I made a strong soap suds with Cuticura Soap and washed his face in the warm suds. The little blisters burst by pressing the cloth on them. After I had his face washed, I put the Cuticura Ointment on and in a short time his little face was all red and dry. I kept using the Cuticura Soap and putting on the Cuticura Ointment and his face got well and it did not leave a scar. He was entirely cured in about one week and a half." ### PUBLIC RECREATION EXPENDITURE SMALL

Out of Annual Tax of Nearly $16 Per Capita Not More Than Five Cents.

Notwithstanding the recent rapid growth of the playground movement, the expenditures for public recreation in most American cities are still absurdly small in relation to total tax rate. This fact is emphasized in a striking manner by Henry S. Curtis, Ph.D., in the current issue of The American City. Says Dr. Curtis: "Our present average tax rate is said to be $15.82 per capita. If this is multiplied by 35,000,000, we shall have a total of $1,450,000,000 for the country. Add to this our various indirect taxes for the national government, and we shall have a good $2,000,000,000 a year in taxation. According to the best statistics that the Playground and Recreation Association of America has been able to obtain from the cities, they have spent during the year ending October 31, 1912, $4,020,121.79 for new sites, buildings, salaries and upkeep of playgrounds. These statistics are incomplete, as a considerable number of expenditures are not reported, but the total is probably less than $5,000,000. This is only a quarter of one per cent of $2,000,000,000. Or, to apply it to the individual, out of an annual tax of nearly $16 per capita we are spending only about 5 cents per capita on public recreation. Now recreation is the most essential social and communal activity of which we have any knowledge. We can work by ourselves, or study by ourselves, but we cannot play by ourselves. We are spending at least $5 per capita on commercial amusements of very doubtful value. The morality of a people is jeopardized in its amusements far more than it is anywhere else. In the light of our present knowledge, can we consider our present meager expenditure for public recreation as anything less than a public disgrace?"

Among the desirable things to which the wise expenditure of playground funds may be expected to contribute, as pointed out by Dr. Curtis, are: Social insurance, city advertising, development of civic loyalty, prevention of accident and crime, increasing the length and efficiency of life, counteracting the attractions of the saloon, and the saving to the individual of expenditure which would otherwise be made for commercial amusements.

That a low tax rate does not necessarily mean an efficient municipality is shown by Dr. Curtis: "Boards of trade in the different cities are generally working for a low tax rate with the feeling that a city with a low rate must be economical in its life. Yet a glance over the items of any city budget shows that a low rate may well mean that the city will be an expensive city to live in. An enormous number of things that were formerly paid for by the people individually are now borne in the city budget. Probably all of these have been secured more cheaply through the city than they were by the individual. They have also greatly improved conditions and increased the value of property. The important question in regard to the tax rate of any city is not how high or low it is, but what is the city getting for it. We should avoid always the high tax rate that spells incompetency and corruption, but we should avoid no less the low rate that represents the standards of the Eighteenth Century rather than the Twentieth."

BUNCHING PAYING CONTRACTS SAVES VANCOUVER MONEY

The city engineer of Vancouver, B. C., reports that during 1912 they found it possible to obtain better prices for street paving than formerly, and also to induce large contractors to locate paying plants in the city, by combining a considerable number of separate streets into one contract, and thus greatly increasing the yardage on which bids were received. The price of asphaltic mixture for pavements was reduced 12 per cent below the figures of 1911, notwithstanding that the cost of labor had increased, the wage on all civic contracts having advanced from 28 to 37½ cents per hour.—Municipal Journal.

MUNICIPAL PHONE SYSTEM IS CONSIDERED BY SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash.—The city council by vote of 6 to 2, rejected the proposition to submit for approval at the March election a $2,000,000 bond issue to provide funds for building a municipal telephone system. The council also rejected a $25,000 bond issue for extending public markets, but an initiative bond issue for $150,000 for the same purpose will be on the ballot. Councilman Oliver T. Erickson's plan for a municipal bank to be conducted by the city treasurer, who will receive individual deposits and invest the deposits and city funds in city, county and state bonds, was approved by the council for submission to the voters.

INCORPORATION OF VERONA AN ISSUE AT ELECTION

The incorporation of the village of Verona under the state law is proposed by prominent residents of the village. County Surveyor Philip H. Hulse has prepared plans and plat of the land to be included within the boundaries of the proposed corporation. A bitter fight over the incorporation of the village will occur, it is said, at the spring election when the question will be submitted to the residents of the village. Two factions are at war over the move to incorporate the village. A large number of the residents are opposed to any move in this direction, because, they say, the incorporation will mean an increase in taxes.—Madison Democrat.

FIRE CHIEF AT RACINE LAUDS MOTOR APPARATUS

In his annual report to the city council of Racine, Chief of the Fire Department Cape says that the city has used motor apparatus two years and longer and that they have proven successful and are far ahead of the horse drawn apparatus. An illustration is given to show that upon a certain occasion one of the machines saved more than the cost of the same. Recommendations are made that the entire department be motorized as soon as funds can be provided, as it would prove a great saving in the cost of maintenance of the same, and also make a great reduction in the annual fire loss.

MENOMINEE FIRE WAGONS ARE PUT BACK ON WHEELS

The change in temperature for the past few days, which has thawed the snow to such an extent that sleighing is practically ended for the season, has handicapped the local fire department to such an extent that the use of runners was abandoned today and wheels were substituted.—Menominee (Mich.) Herald Leader.

ROCKFORD PARK SYSTEM WORTH HALF MILLION

John A. Bowman, county recorder, J. B. Whitehead and Will H. Barnes have appraised the value of the lands which are included in the park system of Rockford township and they find that the total is $512,225. The improvements on the properties are valued at $70,000, making the total appraisal for park property $582,225. The report of the appraisers puts Rockford in the front rank of Illinois cities in the matter of park acreage.—Register Gazette.

LONDON HAS A NUMBER OF MUNICIPAL UTILITIES

London is a conservative city, and naturally the municipal reformers won in the local election. But compared with American cities, London is radical enough in its enterprises, even under their administration. It owns tramway and river steamboat lines, has built municipal workmen's houses and model tenements for 50,000 people and is foremost in great public works.—New York World.

TOTAL MOON ECLIPSE COMES GOOD FRIDAY

Appropriate Darkening on Saddest Date in Church Calendar—Easter On Earliest Possible Sunday Put On.

A total eclipse of the moon occurs in the night of Good Friday, March 21, extending into Saturday morning, still Friday to the astronomer; and with dawn in the Eastern States the eclipsed moon is setting due west. It is a curiously appropriate time for such a darkening, on the saddest date in the church calendar; and the coincidence will not happen again until 1978.

Easter being the Sunday immediately following the ecclesiastical full moon of, or next after, March 21, this festival falls the present year on the 23rd, the earliest day but one possible. In 1813 it actually occurred on the 22d, but has never been so early since, and will not come either then or on the 23d again in this century.

A moon's eclipse is caused by the entrance of our satellite into earth's shadow, whose breadth where the moon passes through is nearly three times that of the moon herself. Her motion around the earth is such as to carry her through a space of 2,000 miles, nearly equal to her own diameter in about an hour. When traveling centrally through the shadow, the moon will consume path more than an hour in becoming immersed, and will then remain nearly two hours totally eclipsed before she begins to emerge. Towards the end of the fourth hour she will again be entirely clear of the shadow, shining as full moon again.

Many superstitions cluster about lunar eclipses, though fewer than pertain to darkenings of the sun. To the ancients lunar obscurations were vastly more interesting than solar eclipses, as may be inferred from Plutarch's "De Fortis," a quaint dialogue which could have been attributed only to believers in Luna's close connections with life and death, and with the spirits thought to watch over human destinies. Savage tribes are greatly terrified at both lunar and solar eclipses. The former are not so valuable scientifically as those of the sun, but from them much is learned about the motion of the moon, and her size, shape, and distance from us.

Also they have been of use to historians in fixing dates of important occurrences hundreds and even thousands of years ago, because it is quite as simple to calculate backward to long-past eclipses as it is to compute those of the future. Thus the lunar eclipse of March 13, B. C. 4, settles the date of Christ's birth, which preceded the death of Herod by a few weeks, and that occurred soon after a lunar eclipse identified by chronologists.

I do not like to hear the preachers insist that we're vile, worthless creatures, and all that sort of bunk; you'd think, to hear some pastors talking, that everything we do is shocking, and that the race is junk. They say we're so depraved, ungodly, our souls are all deformed so oddly, we ought to eat the dust, and suck-cloth wear, and sprinkle ashes upon our whiskers and mustaches, and grovel till we bust! I can't imagine God admitting such groaning, crawling and perspiring, it must offend his sight; for men were fashioned in his image, ABJECT and in this passing ATTITUDE worldly scrupulousness they ought to stand upright.

How God must weary of our whining, when we should stand with faces shining and banners to the breeze; there'll be objections six or seven if we go crawling into heaven upon our hands and knees. God slides at worms as much as you do, and all our hopes we merely hoodoo when we ourselves abuse; so I have quit this thing of crying: I tell the Lord I'm a good Indian, and look Him in the face.

DART

Dart 1,500 lb. Canvas Top Light Delivery Motor Wagon, $790 f. o. b. Factory. Made by Dart Motor Mfg. Co., Waterloo, Iowa.

The Dart Light Delivery Truck Has Stood the Test of Long Severe Service

The Dart Motor Manufacturing Company was the pioneer manufacturer of light delivery trucks. Dart cars are now in service in all the leading cities of the U. S. Many of the first Dart cars are still running, after years of continuous service.

The Dart, therefore, is not an experiment. It has been subjected to longer, more severe, and more varied tests than any other motor truck in its class, because it was the first on the market and the first to be tried out under the different road conditions of different cities and many lines of business.

It has made good in every test. It has proven its true value—its sturdiness, its dependability, its durability. Hundreds of enthusiastic letters and orders for more cars from Dart owners, form conclusive evidence of immense significance.

In fact, and not in theory, the Dart is covered by a guarantee—a real guarantee against flaws, defects and imperfect workmanship.

Furthermore, if any part is broken by accident, it can be replaced at once. Duplicates of every part, from the complete motor to the small bolt, are kept in stock in this city.

The Dart has something more to offer you than a saving over the cost of your horse driven outfit—although this saving is a big one, and just like so much more clean profit in your pocket. The Dart offers you service—continued service, dependable service, long service.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

SAYING WHAT YOU MEAN.

WHEN I was a very little girl, if I made a slip of the tongue, my big brother used to say to me, "Why don't you say what you mean, Ruth, not mean what you say?"

And then I puzzled my small brain over the difference, if there was one, and over the joke, if that was what it was intended to be.

I often think of that now-a-days when I hear people failing to say what they mean. And that, it seems to me, is very often. It may be because we are too much in a hurry to bother, or it may be because we lack intellectual training to make us accurate, but it surely seems to me that very few of the ordinary people we meet and talk to are absolutely accurate speakers. We make ourselves understood well enough, but we don't say exactly what we mean.

For instance, people often say to me, "Do you know what time it is?" And whenever they do, I am tempted to answer, logically by simply saying, "Yes" or "No," as the case may be. Or, "People tell me what time it is." "What time is it?" Or, "People tell me what time it is." And so, knowing how often I fall in logical speech myself, I answer the question rather than the actual question.

I think my own most common mistake in the use of accurate English is to begin a letter of thanks, "I want to thank you." Whenever I catch myself using that silly phrase I say to myself, "Then why don't you say, 'Thank you very much'?" And if I am not too lazy I begin the letter over again by writing simply "I thank you."

The misplacement of the negative or other verb modifier is a most common inaccuracy. Also the wrong use of can and may. Of course no one fails to understand when you say, "Can I do this?" meaning, "Have I your permission to do this?" The use of the proper word in the educated and logical mind.

There is another inaccuracy that always amuses me. If you meet a friend who has been suffering with a cold and ask, "How is your cold?" and she answers, "Better, thank you," you say you are glad. But ought you not really to be sorry to hear that such an affliction as a cold in the head is in a flourishing condition? I suppose there are many people who will call this hyper-accuracy. Perhaps it is, but I know I am not the only person in the world who has thought about this, for just the other day I asked, "How is your cold?" of a friend who is a very logical and rather whimsical person, and he answered promptly, "Finely, thank you, and I'm about as miserable as possible."

It was that discovery of a mind-mate in this matter that made me feel there must be others who would be interested, and so gave me courage to write about it.

shrunken, then iron dry. Materials thus appearance. Mrs. G. B. C.

A good way to shrink goods is to keep your material in the same creases as when bought, opened only enough so as to lie easily on the bottom of the bathtub. Run enough water into the tub to cover the goods and leave sufficient length of time to be thoroughly shrunken. Then lay the broom across the tub and carefully hang the materials upon it, still folded. This will drain the tub and dry. Upon removal the goods will be as pressed and smooth as when bought.

A little salt in the water will set the color at the same time.

To Make School Pennant.
Buy half a yard of felt, each of the two colors of your high school, college or club team. One yard of dollar grade felt ought to make four or five.

Cut pennant with large end about a third as wide as the pennant is to be long and taper it gradually to a point. Cut out letters of stiff cardboard, making the first one about half as high as the wide end of the pennant and the rest gradually smaller. Lay letters on the contrasting color of felt and mark carefully around them with a pencil; cut them out and baste on pennant; space equally and at some distance from the sides of the pennant.

Take some old ribbons from bonbon boxes, etc., same color as the body of pennant and about one-fourth inch wide and cut into pieces six inches long. Double them and baste along the wide end of each pennant (one at each end and one in the middle), leaving ends free.

Cut a strip of felt same color as letters, about one-fourth inch wide and as long as wide-end of pennant. Baste this along end of pennant, over ends or ribbon. The strip on sewing machine around letters and strip on end and your pennant is complete.

Things Worth Knowing.

Good Substitute for paste when mending torn patterns or books or laying paper on the pantry shelf. Take a cold boiled potato, rub edges, lap and press together.

To Make temporary clothes hanger, roll up tightly one or two newspapers, tie in center with a stout string, making a loop to hang up by.

To Arrange Pillows for an invalid just beginning to sit up, place first pillow lengthwise with the person, and the second one across the upper half of the first pillow. In this way the back and shoulders of the invalid are well supported.

Invalids Are Apt to need nourishment often, but only a little at a time. Usually something cooling will be preferred to a hot dish. For instance, an apple baked, combined with custard is both refreshing and nourishing and should be prepared beforehand. The apples should be cored and peeled and then baked with a little sugar and water until soft.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

IT is difficult to be always true to ourselves, to be always what we wish to be, what we feel we ought to be. As long as we feel that, as long as we do not surrender the ideal of our life, all reactions represent the true nature of our soul much more than our every day life. —Muller.

SOME BEST DISHES.

Recipes which are great favorites with one person might not be at all appreciated by another, and yet it is safe to assume that most people enjoy the plain things best.

Waffles.—Mix and beat one and a fourth cups of flour with a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a half teaspoon of soda. Separate the yolks and whites of two eggs, beat well, add a cupful of thick sour milk to the yolks and stir in the dry ingredients, and add three tablespoonfuls of melted butter after folding in the whites of the eggs. Bake on a well buttered waffle iron.

Finnan Haddie.—Cut fish in strips and put into a baking pan, cover with water and place on the back of the range and allow to heat slowly; simmer a half hour, drain and separate the fish into flakes by using two forks. Add a half cup of thick cream and four hard cooked eggs, thinly sliced. Season with cayenne, add a tablespoonful of butter, melted, and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Codfish Balls.—Cook a pint of potatoes, quartered, in three pints of water until tender; drain, mash and beat until smooth; add a tablespoonful of butter, pepper and salt, if needed, and a cupful of pickled codfish. When cool add a beaten egg, form in balls and fry in deep fat.

Cinnamon Rolls.—A delicious cinnamon roll can be made of ordinary biscuit dough, rolled out, spread with butter and thickly sprinkled with brown sugar or maple, if you are fortunate enough to have it, then a sprinkling of cinnamon, and roll up and cut. Put in the pan as close together as possible, as in the raising they spread out.

Spring and Its Message

TODAY, spring begins, according to the time-table of old Sol. In some places, it may not seem much like spring. Snow is on the ground, or the earth is sodden and soft. Trees are bare. Skies are gray. There is no hint of green things, no faintest suggestion of blue above.

Yet spring begins today. And because of this fact, like magic will a mantle of green be woven over brown fields. Some morning, the trees will show little baby leaves dancing in the sun. The distant woods will take on a haze of soft coloring. Spring beauties will nod on delicate stems. The air will resound with the joyous calls of birds. And the soft airs and the sweet scents and the golden sunbeams will fairly rush at us in their glad announcing that spring is here.

And what a lovely season it is! No matter how much we may enjoy winter with its pure emerald mantle fringed with ice crystals, with its great brilliant stars in the still cold air of night, with its cozy open-fires and curtained windows and soft lamp light, we welcome spring with wide-stretched arms and a glad spirit, because it brings not only its own dainty loveliness, but also that which we all crave—change.

And when summer comes with its majestic beauty of maturity, and still warm days, and the drone of bees, and the scent of roses, we will rejoice in that just as gladly.

And ought we not to make in our hearts, if not in our home, a little festival of the coming of spring?

Ought we not to acknowledge in some way, and recognize in our lives, the value of all this beauty about us, and the change in the face of nature that is given us every few months?

For it does much for us, even though we may scarcely be conscious of it.

The beauty of sky and flower and joying brook and tree that is spread so generously all about is a source of joy and an education of the senses in appreciating beauty.

The change, as one season slips quietly into another, is refreshment and rest.

And so today, as we look forward into spring, let us rejoice and be exceedingly glad in our hearts, if not more openly, that, no matter what our station in life may be, nothing can shut us out from enjoyment of the feast of beauty Nature is now making ready for us.

Dentition.

There is no scape goat for a more definite understanding of their growth in two directions through the tissues before they make their appearance. We are generally led to believe that the trouble begins about the time the tooth makes its appearance while as a matter of fact the nervous strain is felt from the time the tooth begins its growth. In extremely delicate children this may sometimes cause serious disturbances but in the great majority of cases a little irritability for a few days, with or without some fever, should be the only effect on a healthy baby properly fed, clothed and cared for.

The teeth do not always come in the same order, but usually the lower centrals appear first, then the upper centrals, followed by the upper laterals and then the lower. The four front double teeth come next, followed by the four canine teeth. The four back double teeth, which complete the first set, come between the twenty-four and thirty-two months of the child's life. No uneasiness need be felt if this order is not followed exactly. For instance, the laterals sometimes precede the centrals.

About the middle or end of the seventh year the permanent teeth begin to advance toward the surface of the gums, absorbing the roots of the temporary teeth, thus facilitating their shedding. It is a good plan to consult a dentist at this time, as often the roots do not loosen up sufficiently to fall out themselves. Let us begin to use our doctors and dentists to prevent trouble rather than to cure it.

The child's mouth should receive faithful care during infancy. The use of a small, soft tooth-brush is recommended after the first eight teeth are through. When the canines begin to make their appearance the use of the brush should be discontinued for a time, owing to the sensitiveness of the gums, by means of the x-ray, we mothers shall have a more definite understanding of their growth in two directions through the tissues before they make their appearance. ## HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a young girl and would be very pretty if I had red cheeks and lips. My parents were always healthy, but were very white. Is there any help for me?

(2)—I am in love with my mail man. I don't know whether he is married or not. How can I find out? (3)—My sister is in love with him too. Would it be right for me to take him away from her? (4)—I should like to act for moving pictures. Do you think they'd throw me out?

SCHOOLIE.
(1)—You may need more iron in your blood. Get a bottle of Beef Wine and Iron preparation at the drugstore and take it according to directions. Also eat a great many carrots and beets, which have iron in them.

(2)—Better wait till the mailman falls in love with you. I am surprised that you are so ready to throw yourself at a man's head—especially when you don't know whether he has a wife or not. He is probably happily married. If not, he'll let you know of his own accord if he wants to do with you except "hold" you. (3)—Haven't the mailman anybody else but the mailman to love? (4)—They want experienced actors only.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am a woman of 22, have a good husband, two sweet little girls and a fairly good home, and I am in love with another man. What would you advise me to do?

(2)—I have severe attacks of headache and stomach trouble. Please give me a remedy.

DISCONTENTED.
(1)—Get interested in people who have real troubles, and try to help them. You ought to get down on your knees every day of your life and thank God that you are sheltered, with a husband and two little lives who are looking to you for guidance.

Do you want your daughters to grow up and think of their mother as a bad woman? That is what you will be if you persist in believing that you are in love with another man. I wish you could see some of the married women I have seen, who thought they were in love with other men, and let themselves go. It's the surest road to sorrow.

(2)—You should see a doctor about this.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 20 and have been receiving the attention of a man of 40. We love each other. My parents strongly object to our marriage and are trying to make me give him up. They also plan to send me on a trip to divert my attention, but this I know can never be. I cannot live without him. What shall I do? LOVE-SICK.
You sign yourself "Love-sick," my dear, and that is the trouble—you are sick. Let your parents have a chance to cure you. If they can't, marry your man and he will probably cure you. He needs an older woman than you and if you will wait a little while you will find a younger man far more congenial to you.

Go on the trip, enjoy yourself, meet other men. Then, if you still feel you love this man of 40 years, and there is no good reason why you should not be married, have things your own way.

White Man of the Future.

One of the scientists makes the announcement that the white man of the future will have only twenty-eight teeth. Pessimists will expect him to have just as much trouble as ever in cutting them.

DOCTORS DID NOT HELP HER

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. LeClear's Health—Her Own Statement.

Detroit, Mich. — "I am glad to discover a remedy that relieves me from my suffering and pains. For two years I suffered bearing down pains and got all run down. I was under a nervous strain and could not sleep at night. I went to doctors here in the city but they did not do me any good."

"Seeing Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised. I tried it. My health improved wonderfully. I am now quite well again. No woman suffering from female ills will regret it if she takes this medicine." —Mrs. JAMES G. LECLEAR, 236 Hunt St., Detroit, Mich.

Another Case.

Philadelphia, Pa. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is all you claim it to be. About two or three days before my periods I would get bad backaches, then pains in right and left sides, and my head would ache. I called the doctor and he said I had organic inflammation. I went to him for a while but did not get well so I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking two bottles I was relieved and finally my troubles left me. I married and have two little girls. I have had no return of the old troubles." —Mrs. CHAS. BOELL, 2550 S. Chadwick St., Phila., Pa.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

One Mother's Method of Weaning Baby.

So many mothers dread the ordeal of "weaning," yet if they but weaned baby gradually they would never miss an hour's regular rest.

It always seemed cruel to me when I heard the old saying of "three nights' crying will wean baby," so when my first baby was to be weaned I thought I would try a plan of my own. I have just weaned my fourth baby by same method and never lost any sleep nor walked the floor; therefore submit it with the hope that it may help someone.

Begin about the age of ten months. Omit one nursing during day (bottle or breast), substituting small teacup of fourths milk, one-fourth water (boiled and cooled), sweetened warm.

Baby may balk at first, but persistence and coaxing must be used. Continue about two weeks, the same time each day; then omit two nursings and substitute diluted milk. Continue in this way until baby is weaned entirely by day.

Now for night weaning. The best time to substitute is about middle of the night. I always wrap baby up and take him out while I warm milk, then he is sufficiently awake to know what he is going to get. If he absolutely refuses to take substitute give him his bottle or nurse, but try every night until he is persuaded; then the following night give him all substitute and no nurse.

Presto! Baby is weaned, and so gradually that he doesn't miss a "dinner."

This requires patience, I know, but better that than crying his little heart away.

To Shrink Goods.

To shrink all wash goods, spread a sheet and lay upon it the material to be shrunk. In folds the length of the sheet. Sprinkle the goods until well moistened, roll sheet and material tightly together, lay away about 24

Side Lights On The Circus Business

By
D. W. WATT

(Copyrighted.)

Today down in Chicago there are hundreds of old time show men gathered to renew old acquaintances and talk of the organization of a national home for the aged and inform circus employees in that city. Buffalo Bill, one of the oldest of the old time ring show men, now in active service, will be in his glory and at the "Lor" the Hotel La Salle there will be many a greeting of old comrades that have not seen each other for years.

Once a circus man always a circus man is true in most cases. Many of us retired from active work in the "Big Tops" years ago but still our interest is just as keen as it ever was and these are the days when the trouping fever is hardest to resist. The circus kings of today were unknown showmen, a decade or so ago, and the old show man, like the old horse, always snorts with delight when the band begins to play and the procession starts on its daily pilgrimage.

As I write these articles many memories of the past come to mind that I try to place before my readers eyes in the same light that I see them. Old times are not forgotten and old days bring back thoughts of the past and the men who were in the business when I was. Of course all did not become rich and prominent, but the hard workers did. Many a man who now holds responsible positions of trust and public confidence in various parts of the country served his apprenticeship on the canvas tops in some capacity or other. It is interesting to note their progress and recall old days.

In the early eighties with the Forepaugh show a young man came to the ticket wagon and asked if there was any kind of a position that a young man like him might fill around the show. He was a pale faced, sickly looking chap of about 21 years of age, and I said to him:

"Young man, you have not quite the build for heavy work and clerical work that you might be able to do around the show is all pretty well filled up." I told him there might be a position open to sell reserve seat tickets on the inside of the show and asked him if he thought he could do the work. He said he would be only too glad to try it.

He said he had had a fair education and his appearance showed plainly that he had been well bred and well brought up. He went to work selling reserve seat tickets that evening and stayed with the show two or three years and never in all that time did any complaint ever come from his reserve seat ticket stand of any kind. He was always civil and polite to everybody and he soon made friends with everyone connected with the show. With the thousands that were coming and going from the show in the different departments this young man had gone from my mind and only occasionally have I thought of him for years.

While I knew his home was in Missouri I had forgotten the name of the town and it has been at least twenty-five years since I had heard from him until last Thursday, the thirteenth of this month. On the 15th of February this year the New York Clipper published a portrait of mine and a copy of this paper fell into the hands of this young man whose name is Homer Martin.

His home is in Bowling Green, Missouri where he is clerk of the circuit court of Pike County. He sat down

Best Known Cough Remedy.
For forty-three years Dr. King's New Discovery has been known throughout the world as the most reliable cough remedy. Over three million bottles were used last year. Isn't this proof? It will get rid of your cough, or we will refund your money. J. J. Owens, of Allendale, S. C., writes the way hundreds of others have done: "After twenty years, I find that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and colds that I have ever used." and wrote the New York Clipper office for my address and below I will give you a copy of his letter. That I was surprised as well as pleased in hearing from my old friend Homer Martin goes without saying for we had spent several years together ways than one.

Bowling Green, Mo.,
March 10th, 1913.
Warren A. Patrick, Esq.,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:
In the issue of the New York Clipper bearing date of February 15, 1913 you have a cut of D. W. Watt, but I fail to find any information as to his residence, etc. I would like very much to have the address of Mr. Watt. My reason for wanting same is purely a personal one. Mr. Watt and I put in several years together with the old Forepaugh show back in the early eighties.

"Your 'Joe Hepp' is very interesting reading for an old timer, particularly when he is out of the business and in the tall grass as I am. I knew the original personality, in fact I have done a little business with him years ago."

Thanking you in advance for the information asked for and with best wishes, I am,

Very truly yours,
HOMER MARTIN,
Clerk of the Circuit Court
of Pike County.

Among the wealthier of all the old show men who have died and left fortunes of various sizes in years past was James A. Bailey, who for so many years was the partner and real head of the Barnum show. James A. Bailey commenced his career in the show business when a very young man and well did he keep in the middle of the road at the business until a few years ago when he died at the age of about seventy years. Mr. Bailey left a fortune of between four and five millions and by the will it all went to the widow. They never had any children so the nearest heirs were brothers and sisters of whom I think there were four. But in the distribution of these millions some of the heirs got dissatisfied and now the millions of James A. Bailey which he was a life time accumulating have gotten into the courts where it will probably be a long time before it is settled, the particulars of which I will give you below:

"Special Dispatch to the North American."

New York, Jan. 21.—The suit to break the will of Mrs. James A. Bailey, widow of P. T. Barnum's partner in the show business, was begun today in the supreme court at White Plains by Mrs. Anna Isabelle Hutchinson, of Bridgeport, Mrs. Bailey's sister.

Mrs. Bailey died in Florida in March, 1912. She inherited all her husband's estate supposed to be worth between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

About a month after Mr. Bailey's death, Mrs. Bailey made a will dividing practically all her fortune equally between her brothers and sisters. But in a second will made in 1908, she cut Mrs. Hutchinson down to a life annuity of $10,000 a year.

Mrs. Hutchinson says she is entitled to one fourth of the estate. She asserts that in making the second will Mrs. Bailey was improperly influenced by her brother Joseph T. McCaddon.

The Daily Novelties

THE LOST MILLIONS

Pursing her lips, she shut her purse. She had come without care, and she told the conductor as much.

The conductor looked at her blankly. He didn't like to throw her off. She had on a nice white linen suit and it might get soiled.

"If telephone to headquarters and find out what to do about it," he told her. "Stop the car. Or, wait a minute, I'll stop it."

He stopped the car, and, in spite of the earnest protests of the rest of the passengers, went in search of a telephone. Some of the passengers were in a great hurry. Three brokers were aboard and millions depended on whether they reached the stock exchange in time to sell at 55 1/2 some Consolidated Peanut they had bought the day before at 24. They pleaded, begged and swore, but the conductor was firm. He left the car.

He was gone 15 minutes. When he returned 14 cars and a milk wagon were blocked behind his car and the brokers were foaming at the mouth, whose brokers are said always to foam when they foam. Millions had been lost, including the company's nickels.

"The president says to let you ride," the conductor told her.

BLUE RIBBON GRAIN GIVEN TO SCHOOLS BY NOYES RAESSLER

Rock County Farmer Who Has Won Highest Honors on Products Demonstrates Exhibits to Aid Experimental Work.

Noyes Raessler, of Beloit, secretary of the Rock County Experimental Association, whose pedigree rye won the world's championship at the International Grain Show held the past winter at Columbia, South Carolina, and whose pedigree wheat and barley have won high honors wherever exhibited, will donate these prize winning samples to the Rock county teachers' training school, the Janesville high school and the Beloit high school, for use in agricultural demonstration work this spring.

Although Mr. Raessler has been offered handsome prices for these particular exhibits which are the finest raised in Wisconsin and perhaps in the northwest, he has most generously contributed them for educational purposes in Rock county where they were raised. By this plan he hopes to interest a large number of boys and girls in the possibilities of grain raising in this region.

Mr. Raessler has taken the greatest pains possible in raising grain of all kinds on his farm three miles northwest of Beloit on what is known as the Madison road. Not only has the land been prepared through proper rotation and cultivation, but special care has been taken in the selection of seed. Every acre of grain now raised on his farm is of the pedigree variety endorsed by the state agricultural college.

In the accompanying illustration is shown the ten ears of Golden Glow, yellow dent corn, which took the grand champion sweepstakes of the northern zone at the Columbia show. These same ears have traveled through five grain shows and have never been beaten. They are undoubtedly the best that the northern zone has thus far produced. These ten ears, another exhibit of white dent, the championship rye, oats, barley and wheat were all exhibited at the mid-winter fair recently held at the auditorium.

This afternoon Mr. Raessler gave an illustrated lecture at the teachers' convention at Beloit.

As a prominent member of the county experimental society Mr. Raessler is now working on the plans for the corn growing contest which will be conducted in the county this year. It is calculated to interest the boys and young men especially, although any person who can raise an acre of corn is entitled to enter. Some handsome prizes will be offered in the competition and the winner of the highest honors will be entitled to compete in the state contest in which Ex-Governor Hearst of Fort Atkinson and other prominent agriculturists are interested. Anyone who desires to enter the Rock county event or who wishes information concerning it should write to Mr. Raessler at Beloit.

The movement for the raising of better grains, the planting of better seed, which has been instituted within the last few years, has had a steady growth in Rock county and it is safe to predict that within a few years yields will be notably increased and the quality of the grain will be much higher than at present. There has been seen a general disposition on the part of farmers to sow improved seed and greater care in raising and cultivating the crop will be a natural result. Such exhibitions as are held in Janesville each winter, under the auspices of the Commercial Club and the experimental society, and at other cities in the state under the auspices of the state bankers' association, have been an important factor in arousing interest, while the state agricultural school has been ever willing to assist any organization which sought to improve the efficiency of Wisconsin farms.

At the mid-winter fair next winter it is planned to have two classes of grain exhibits, which might be termed the "professional" for such growers as Mr. Raessler and Mr. A. Austin, who resides on Milton avenue, and who is a close rival of the Beloit man for honors in the grain line, and the "non-professional" for farmers who have not reached the expert stage of grain raising. In any event the coming year promises to be a notable one for Rock county farmers in the matter of grain production, the weather conditions permitting.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, March 15, 1873.—Ice Breaks Up: The ice between the ice boom and the dam went out yesterday afternoon taking in its passage the timbers and the planks that blocked the entrance to the chute. The ice boom placed across the river above the dam, by the order of the common council is doing wonderful and valuable services in holding back the heavy ice which is liable to do heavy damage to our dams and bridges should it be set in motion by the releasing of the ice in the swift current of the river.

The backbone of winter broke last night with a grand electrical display accompanied by the crashing of thunder and a heavily and protracted rain shower. Soon there will be green grass, birds, violets, asparagus and other garden stuff, and we shall be happy once more in spite of our cold and dismal winter.

The second rehearsal of the oratorio of the Haymakers will occur in the parlors of the Baptist church on Monday evening.

The chorus chosen for this musical exhibition is composed of experienced vocalists and under the direction of Mr. Blischoff they will speedily gain a mastery to the difficult parts assigned to them. The orchestra will be filled up with music of this sort, it being made up of Janesville's best talent. The oratorio is to be given four nights at the opera house and there is every reason to believe that it will be worthy of its originators.

suits he was highly successful. It was nothing uncommon for him to take a handful of men and go out and kill a whole herd of unwashed red brethren, getting back home in time to milk the cow. When the war of 1812 broke out, Andrew broke out with it and roamed all over the south looking for trouble. He found it at New Orleans where he stood off a British army of 14,000 men with an animated cluster of pigeon-toed militia and a well-spring of hope.

Andrew's chief competitor for the presidency was Henry Clay, who was a poor politician and got nosed out several times in succession. As president, Jackson made a great hit with a large number of emancipated office seekers by removing 2,000 republican postmasters and filling their places with party workers who would stand without hitching. He also landed on the United States bank and caused it to expire with a loud plunk. General Jackson was called "Old Hickory" in account of his great powers of endurance and because of appearing at the inaugural ball in a hickory shirt. He had the disagreeable habit of taking the people into his confidence, which was very irritating to the old school politicians and caused them to comment on his table manners. He died June 8, 1845, having given the insurgent movement a start from which it has never recovered.
